

14 BITTEN BY SAME MAD DOG

Mayor of Rosebud and 13 Others Take Pasteur Treatment.

Austin, Texas, April 11.—Fourteen persons, including the mayor of Rosebud, are taking the Pasteur treatment as a result of having been bitten by a dog afflicted with hydrophobia at Rosebud last week. The first to arrive at the Pasteur institute was Mayor Booth, of Rosebud, and his eldest daughter, Miss Zeta. The others reached here a short time afterward, all having been bitten by the same dog.

Dog Had Hydrophobia.
The head of the dog was sent to the institute for examination. After the examination, the animal was declared to have had hydrophobia. Those here for the treatment, besides the mayor and his daughter, are Robert, Edna, Juanita and Lois Hilliard, Ruth Pledger, Eleanor Upham, Fletcher Reader, Virgil Smith, Joe Chermack, Joyce Laidie, Clarence Root, Yeta May Tubbs, all of Rosebud, and Mrs. Van Roan, of Houston, who was visiting friends at Rosebud at the time.

QUIT CIRCUS, JOIN ARMY.
Left behind when the Robinson circus moved west Saturday night, E. Spark, a negro boy, was arrested on a charge of vagrancy Sunday morning by city detectives. He had been released Monday afternoon in corporation court, however, by Judge Thomas, after stating that he intended to go to Fort Bliss and enlist in the army.

Druggists Know Best Medicine For Kidney Troubles

During the twenty-five years that I have been selling Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root I have never heard a complaint, as my customers always speak favorably regarding it. Three parties have informed me that they have been restored to health by the use of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root after suffering from Rheumatism, liver trouble and bladder complaints.

Very truly yours,

M. J. LOCKS TROUBLE IN HIS HOME

Discovers Men in His House, Locks Door and Calls Cops to Come.

When Dr. William J. Feland returned to his home at 303 Piedras street Monday afternoon at 5:15 he found two Mexicans in the house. One of the men drew a knife and started toward Dr. Feland, he told the police. He turned, slammed the door and locked it, locking the two men in the house. He called to Jose Dominguez to aid him and stationed Jose at the back door with two bricks to prevent the robbers from escaping while he went for the police. The two men were arrested by the police from the central station and gave the names of E. Salt and S. Andrade. They were charged with burglary.

Charged With Purse Snatching.
Charged with being a purse snatcher, Eleno Rodriguez was arrested Monday night on complaint of Incarnacion Gomez, who claimed the man had snatched a purse from her hand. Charles Reid, of the Held Bros. Fuel Co., played cop long enough to catch a man taking an automobile horn from his car last Saturday night. T. Jones, the arrest was made in front of the Elks' club Monday night. G. Harren was arrested Monday afternoon on a charge of shoplifting. He was caught in a room on Second street with two crates filled with goods in his possession.

Rubber Hose Stolen.
J. B. Bryan reported the theft of some rubber hose from his home, 3309 Fallarosa street. Fifty feet was taken he stated.

Elmer Goff, a messenger boy of 613 San Antonio street, reported Tuesday that his bicycle had been stolen Monday night.

The home of J. A. Clayton was entered Monday night, at 406 Tornillo street, and clothing, a pair of shoes and a suit case were taken.

Caught Thief.
Detected in the act of breaking into a number of boxes in the rear of the Western Grocery store, at Seventh and E. Paso streets early Tuesday morning, L. Ravira was caught and held by two employees of the company until the arrival of the police. On being discovered Ravira attacked the two men in an effort to escape.

Investigation revealed that the man had entered a rear window of the store and had accumulated a quantity of goods in readiness for flight.

Tires Returned.
Before he had discovered that two automobile tires and a piece of rubber hose had been stolen, these articles were returned to P. E. Kelly, of 215 Arizona street, Monday afternoon by the police. The tires and hose were found in possession of Joaquin Munoz, a well known character in the neighborhood of the small store in the lower part of the city.

SOCALLED CLUBS "BOOZE" DRINKS

Special Attorney Marcum Says Clubs Are Meeting Places For Women.

Injunction suits filed late Saturday afternoon by C. W. Croon, county attorney, and P. L. Marcum, special prosecutor for the city, sought the suppression of so-called social and athletic clubs, which it is sought to close by temporary restraining order, to 22. On three of these, the Cactus club, the International club and the Century club, the temporary restraining order was requested by Judge Dan M. Jackson, on the ground that proceedings had previously been instituted against them. Against the temporary restraining order was granted. In addition to these cases, district attorney W. W. Bridges filed an application for a writ of injunction against the West Texas Athletic club and Sam Rowan. In this case Judge Ballard Colwell entered an order setting the date of hearing for April 24. If at that time the defendant fails to appear, an injunction will issue.

The injunctions granted Monday afternoon were against L. Laredo and the Comopolitan Social club, Simon Calamia and the Yuleta club, and Newton Bassett and the El Paso club.

Service on Many.
The sheriff's office Monday night procured service on a large number of those enjoined earlier in the day, including the Santa Fe club, the Casino Club, the National Athletic club, the Athletic club, Bassett Athletic club, Tama City club, Army Athletic club and the Young Men's Commercial club. These are now closed.

To further the work of prosecution, Mr. Marcum was Tuesday morning appointed assistant county attorney without pay by county Judge Adrian Pool, on the recommendation of county attorney Croon.

"We are going to close every club we can find that is in any way violating the provisions of its charter and the laws of Texas," said P. L. Marcum, "and it is probable that other injunctions will be filed."

Are House Joints.
"Our investigations to date reveal that in every case, with one single exception, the clubs of the city and in the county outside the city are in the liquor business, simple and plain. A few of them bowling alleys and billiard and pool tables are maintained, but if the selling of liquor were taken away from these National Athletic club, the Athletic club, Bassett Athletic club, Tama City club, Army Athletic club and the Young Men's Commercial club. These are now closed.

Meeting Places for Women.
"Many of the so-called social clubs are nothing more nor less than houses where women are taken and where liquor is sold. We have considerable evidence of this fact. As evidence, the club is run as a saloon in the fact that most of them do not open for business until 5:30, when the licensed saloons in obedience to the law close their doors for the night."

No Books.
"Some of the clubs which we have enjoined have only the semblance of an organization as a club. In some cases we have been refused access to the books of the club, no membership list at all, while one that we found has a membership list of over 700."

Is What Cardui Gave to This Alabama Lady, According to Her Statement Printed Below.

Cllo, Ala.—"I had been in good health until I was 15 years old," writes Mrs. A. L. Snell, of R. F. D. No. 1, this place, "but one day... I was helping my father plant cotton in the field and was caught in the rain... At that time I got very ill... I suffered great agony in the lower abdomen, right side, and had dreadful sick headache, also pains in the back... I got dreadfully thin and simply gave entirely up. I had to go to bed and was there, on my back, for two weeks."

Dr.—"said I'd have to have an operation. I wouldn't hear to that, so, as my mother had used Cardui with great benefit... she recommended that I take Cardui... Soon after I began taking it, I saw an improvement, and was able to get up and be about my work..."

I was nearly entirely well... when one day... I scrubbed the whole house, washed clothes for 7 in the family, and got my feet wet. This caused another sick spell... So I turned again to my old friend, Dr. Cardui... After the use of less than a bottle again I was able to be up and about my work. I also freshened up again, got a good color, and I am now in good health... I highly recommend Cardui... It is the best tonic that I know of."

GEN. PERSHING PROBES REPORTS

Continues Pursuit of Villistas Until Death of Villa is Confirmed.

that American troops are not to be withdrawn from the present American Expedition.

15,500 Troops on Border.
Official estimates of the number of troops in Mexico and on the border available for an emergency were given at the war department. Gen. Scott, chief of staff, announced that 15,500 troops now constitute the border patrol.

Gen. Pershing has about 15,000 men in Mexico, including those holding his line of communications.

How greatly the mobile army has been drawn upon for the Mexican expedition and border service, was also disclosed by Gen. Scott. He estimated that only a few thousand troops remain in the United States not engaged on the border.

List of Troops in U. S.
The only troops remaining at army posts are the second cavalry, divided between Fort Myer, Va., and Fort Riban Allen, Vermont; the third and 13th infantry along the great lakes; the 14th infantry, between Fort Wright, Alaska, and Fort Tule, Okla.; the 21st infantry, divided between San Diego, Calif., and Vancouver, Wash., with one battalion at Culiacan and one at the 13th cavalry at Fort Riley, Kan., service school.

The department asked for details of Gen. Pershing's conferences with Gen. Herrera and Gutierrez.

No Cooperation, Says Fall.
Senator Fall, of New Mexico, who at the request of Republican senators, went to the border immediately after Villa's raid on Columbus to investigate general conditions there, declared in a letter received Monday by senator Gallagher, the minority leader, that Carranza troops were not cooperating with the American expedition in any way or making any attempt to capture Villa.

He complained that border patrol was not maintained in adequate force, and said an unguarded gap of nine miles had made the Columbus raid possible.

The letter was written in El Paso, April 4. It quoted an unnamed authority as saying that unless a more satisfactory way of the Mexican railways were made possible within two weeks, the American troops must withdraw, and said reliable information had reached the senator that Villa had not been wounded.

Alleges Refusal to Attack.
"The Mexicans," said the letter, "have made no attempt to attack Villa at all, and have not in any way, been co-operating with our forces or attempting to check Villa's retreat or to assist in his capture."

"On his retreat, Villa's first camp was within five miles of San Carranza, and to whom Ramon Reyes reported and whom he pleaded with to accompany him to attack Villa's 300 men. The Carranza forces refused."

Describing in detail the Columbus raid from information gathered from Columbus officials, senator Fall said the houses had made their way into the heart of the town, looted two stores and set fire to several buildings before an alarm was given. Within 10 minutes the houses were within 20 feet of the American hospital, he said the Mexicans then fought with the citizens of the town for several hours, before the troops stationed behind the hospital, appeared.

Troop Concentration Exaggerated.
The letter emphasized the possibility of Mexican troops concentrated facing the border at Juarez and other border towns. He said stories of concentration of Carranza troops along the border had been exaggerated, but that he was reliably informed that the Carranza commanders could put 8,000 men into Agua Prieta within four hours, and probably all the Carranza troops in the state of Chihuahua were stationed along the Mexican Central railway within 10 hours of Juarez.

"However, I have absolutely no fear of an attack from Mexicans," said senator Fall, "under any circumstances except through Indian tactics such as pure and simple, or where the Mexicans are in overwhelming numbers."

Notes in Border Patrol.
The senator said that at the time he wrote there was no border patrol west of Douglas, and had been none between Gibson ranch and Machita, 30 miles to the east. He declared Villa's sympathizers were overrunning virtually all of northern Mexico and that Villa easily could capture Chihuahua, where the border troops were friendly to him.

"In the Torreon, Parral and Santa Rosalia districts," said the senator, "Villa has many friends and one of his leaders, Canute Reyes, is said to have 1,200 armed men constantly cutting communications and threatening the garripos at Torreon."

The districts mentioned are among those in which American troops have been operating.

"Mexicans of the Casas Grandes, Santa Maria and Guerrero valleys are welcoming our soldiers and deal with them on the most friendly terms," he wrote. "The only opposition which they are meeting at all among the population is because of the understanding that we are assisting Carranza."

State department dispatches are summarized in the following official statement: "Telegraphic advices dated April 10 from Juarez state that Carranza continues to improve in that district and that there are no disquieting symptoms on the border."

The dispatches dated the 10th from Chihuahua state that there is no evidence of any troop movement toward the border. It is stated that every available man is operating in the locality of the supposed whereabouts of Villa and that Gen. Gutierrez is giving every proof of sincere cooperation.

PERSHING HEARS OF TWO MURDERS

J. H. Locke Tells of Killing of Blankenburg and McGregor at Minaca.

By H. W. BLANKENBURG.

Pershing's camp at Front, April 10, (by airplane to Columbus, N. M., April 11).—The chief news which the Villistas now hold human life was brought out pointedly here today by J. H. Locke, an American, of Minaca, of March 25, when Harman Blankenburg, a German, and David Bruce, an American, were killed. Locke described to Gen. Pershing the utter ruthlessness with which these two were killed.

Letters found on David Bruce indicated that this was a pen name which he had adopted in Mexico while trying to sell magazine stories, and that his friends expected him to write something about Villa. The letters gave his right name as Don McGregor. He was from Minneapolis and Chicago.

"The night of March 25, said Locke in telling his story, 'we three were in my hotel where we lived. Early in the morning, before daylight, we heard shooting and soon Carranza soldiers said that Villistas were attacking the town. This was the same night that Villa attacked Guerrero and San Mateo.'

Two soldiers remained behind guard the room where the Carranza commander resided in our hotel and which he left at the shooting to take command of his troops. I told the other two who came to my room, that we must get away immediately before daylight. Blankenburg said he would not leave, that he was a German and had nothing to fear. Bruce seemed to be in fear, but decided not to risk going out. So I started alone through the streets, and down which the Villistas were riding, fighting Carranza troops when they encountered them, and shooting wildly the rest of the time. The moon was in its last quarter, so that there was considerable light to see by. I carried my pistol, ready, but never had to use it. By a freak of good fortune I passed through the entire band of Villistas without one of them catching sight of me. The next day I hid out, and two days later a Mexican friend brought me news of the deaths of Blankenburg and Bruce."

Blankenburg's Head Split Open.
They had stayed together in my office, which faced the street, until about 1 o'clock in the morning. The thick adobe walls protected them. Then Blankenburg decided that he would go to the hotel kept by Richard Heimpel, another German. Taking his valise, Blankenburg stepped into the street. Just at that moment a Villista mounted, was riding past. Without warning, without a word of question, this Villista struck Blankenburg over the head with his sword, splitting it half way to the neck. As Blankenburg fell and rolled over upon his back, the Villista shot him in the face.

"All this occurred before the door of my room had been closed, so that the Villista after striking Blankenburg, looked up and saw Bruce sitting in my room. The soldier raised his rifle, killing Bruce with two shots through the breast."

Mexicans Buried Bodies.
"The Mexicans were afraid to bury either the foreigners while Villa's men remained in town. Meanwhile the pigs in the street were threatening to mutilate Blankenburg's body beyond recognition. A Mexican who knew Blankenburg told his little boy to sit on the doorstep in front of the body with a pile of rocks handy and to throw the rocks to keep the pigs away. The boy did this until the Villistas left early in the forenoon. Then the Mexicans buried the two hurriedly, but they did not dare have any ceremony. They just tumbled both bodies into a trench along with the dead Mexicans. I don't know how many Mexican dead there were."

no evidence there of any troop movement toward the border. It is stated that every available man is operating in the locality of the supposed whereabouts of Villa and that Gen. Gutierrez is giving every proof of sincere cooperation.
